Personal Achievements through Charitable Work:Umbono (Trip to South Africa with my Values in World Thought Class)

Summer 2019

- Throughout my Junior year I did fundraising with my class to donate medical supplies, clothing, and money to the organizations that we visited when we went to South Africa during summer 2019. The organizations we visited do work to better the lives of people affected by inequality and oppression; some examples of the organizations we volunteered for are Philani, a child and mother nutrition program based in the township of Khayelitsha in Capetown and Botshabelo, a community that supports children affected or infected by HIV. We were able to raise over $17,000 through T-shirt, jewelry, and calendar sales as well as a fundraiser dinner combined with a silent auction that I helped organize and conduct.

Teen Kitchen

- During the summer of 2018 I volunteered at Teen Kitchen, where I prepared and packaged meals for people with illnesses and for their family members. Creating menus and cooking for others was fun and empowering.

Food Not Bombs

- During the summer of 2017 I volunteered at Food not Bombs in Santa Cruz serving meals to the unhoused on Saturday nights. I found this work inspiring as it helped me overcome my fear of unhoused people, realize and appreciate their humanity and develop compassion for their hardships that have caused their present situation and now receive prejudice against them just because they live on the streets.

Additional Skills: Conversational skills in German, proficient PC skills including MS Suite, Google docs.
